NSSE Resources for WSU Academic Programs

Disaggregated NSSE reports have been distributed to programs in which 10 or more certified senior majors responded to the 2019 National Survey of Student Engagement.

ATL, in collaboration with Institutional Research, works to disaggregate results by major for undergraduate academic degree programs and colleges, focusing on responses from seniors, to provide information about the student perspective to help continually improve the learning experience for students.

ATL's NSSE Toolkit includes resources that may be useful for interpreting and using NSSE as an indirect measure for program-level assessment, such as:

- Guiding Questions for Interpreting NSSE
- Using the NSSE Report Builder to Examine Discipline Specific Peer Comparisons
- NSSE to Inform Program Decisions

As you examine your 2019 NSSE results, ATL is available to answer questions, and help programs interpret and use NSSE results.

Because NSSE asks questions about specific experiences rather than satisfaction, results are often "actionable." Put NSSE results to good use with these tips from Linda Suskie.

FYI: [CAPS] Assessment for UCORE

Each semester, [CAPS] instructors submit a short [CAPS] Course Assessment Report for UCORE. For more information, see UCORE's [CAPS] Course Assessment page.
